ABOUT IMD

IMD business school in Lausanne, Switzerland, stands out from other world-leading schools with executive education courses because they place great emphasis on the individual composition of each classroom and on the participant's personal needs and goals. IMD's approach focuses on the participant's challenges, rather than presenting case studies of successful leaders.

KEY BENEFITS

- Find breakthrough ideas to grow your business and enhance your leadership skills
- Learn tools to improve the management of change and negotiate complex issues
- Create a personal leadership development plan

PROGRAM FOCUS

- Exploring your personal leadership patterns
- Leveraging your strengths for effective leadership
- Discovering how to lead highly effective teams

METHODOLOGY

- Innovative "real-world, real-learning" approach, IMD draws on the knowledge within a specific classroom rather than analyzing case studies of leaders outside the classroom.
- Content is delivered in an interactive manner and addresses the personal needs and scenarios of each group.
- With participant stories as the foundation for the week's analysis, attendees will leave armed with an actionable game plan to address their organization's unique challenges and concerns.

WHY ATTEND

- This Only-in-YPO program provides the academic insights, frameworks and tools to become better leaders and to influence with high impact.
- Attendees will enhance their leadership skills and expand strategic mindset in order to establish a sustainable direction for the future, execute strategy and deliver actionable results.
- Since 2008, IMD business school has consistently ranked as one of the top three schools for executive education by the "Financial Times." In 2018, the school again took the No. 1 spot for open executive education programs, and No. 3 for custom programs.
